Darryl Patton:

- Working with Darryl has been good. We all planned out our roles in this project and Darryl got on top of it right away. Darryl was someone in this project who took his role and ran with it making everything happen. We needed someone like that in this project, someone who is determined to make things work and then makes them happen. Darryl's pages that he worked on are also responsive and working as we intended so it's nice that he managed to make that work out. .

Josue Rosales :

- Josue has been a strong part of our group. He worked on two pages without needing much of our help. There was times when we disagreed but we managed to make it work out. The menu page that he worked on turned out to be pixel perfect compared to the prototype and having someone who is able to implement details that they see is nice because it refined the project and made it as accurate as it could be to the prototype.

Hassan Sajid (Me):

- I worked on the catering page and the navbar and footer for all of the other pages. The navbar and footer were pretty simple but I did have a hard time making my page responsive since things weren't aligning well but after getting some outside help (thank you isaiah), I was able to find the issue and use bootstrap to make my page responsive. This was my first time using bootstrap responsiveness because I used CSS before so this was a nice learning exp.
